FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

DAILY PROCEEDINGS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

The Inter-Oceanic Canal Bill—The Co-operation of the Government Requested—Routine Works.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 19.—Immediately after the reading of the Journal, the Speaker proceeded to call the States for bills, under which call Mr. Bailey, of New York, introduced a bill relating to the Inter-Oceanic Canal, which was referred. It requests the President to invite the co-operation of the Government and of the principal maritime nations of Europe, in the selection of the route of the Isthmus-ship transit, which shall be found to serve most largely in the general interests of the maritime nations, and to communicate to such governments the desire of this government to come to an understanding relative to the neutrality of such an inter oceanic transit.

Mr. Vance, of North Carolina, introduced a bill to repeal the duty on salt.

Mr. Cobb, of Indiana, a bill relative to the distribution of the unappropriated moneys of the Geneva award.

Mr. Townshend, of Illinois, a bill proposing a constitutional amendment in regard to the election of a President and Vice-President, providing for their election by a majority of the votes of the people, and for an abolition of the Electoral College.

By Mr. Tucker, of Virginia, for the erection of a monument to General Daniel Morgan.

By Mr. Bland, of Missouri, repealing the laws restricting the sale of tobacco by the producers thereof.

By Mr. Wells, of Missouri, incorporating the Inter-Oceanic Transit Company. It makes J. B. Eads and his associates a body corporate and authorizes them to acquire the right of way by negotiations or treaty and pledges the co-operation of the United States. It provides for the detail of two ships of war to assist in making surveys and appropriates $200,000 for the expenses of such surveys.

The Speaker laid before the House an invitation of the McGill Association to the members of the House to be present at the delivery of an address by Charles S. Parnell on the 24 of February, upon the present sufferings in Ireland. Upon motion of Mr. Cox, of New York, it was decided to offer Mr. Parnell the use of the hall of the House.

Mr. Cox, of New York, presented a memorial of the members of the Bullion Club of New York relative to currency.

Mr. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, moved to suspend the rules and adopt a resolution to the effect that negotiation by the Executive Department of the Government, of the commercial treaty with foreign countries, fixing the rates of the duty on foreign commodities entering the United States would be an infection of the Constitution and an invasion of one of the highest prerogatives of the House.

Before the conclusion of the vote on this proposition, the floor was claimed for business of the district of Columbia and Kelley's resolution went over.

After the passage of the bill appropriating $140,000 for constructing a bridge across the Potomac at Georgetown.

The House adjourned.

SENATE.

Senator Ferry introduced a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution that suffrage shall not be restricted on account of sex or for any other reason that does not apply to all the citizens of the United States. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

After presentation of the numerous petitions and memorials, Thurman, from the committee on the Judiciary, reported with an amendment the House bill to provide for circuit and district courts of the United States at Macon, Ga. Placed on the calendar.

Bills were introduced and referred as follows:

By Mr. Ferry, a joint resolution proposing to amend the Constitution so as to extend the franchise to all citizens, without reference to sex.

By Mr. Pratt, to request the President to communicate with foreign powers upon the subject of the inter-oceanic canal, with a view to mutual understanding as to the route, neutrality, &c.

By Mr. Morgan, to grant certain public lands in Alabama, in aid of warrior and Tennessee riders, for a railroad company.

On motion of Mr. Morrill his resolution instructing the finance committee to enquire into the practicability of refunding any part of the public debt at less than four per cent. interest was taken from the table and referred to that committee. The morning hour having expired the Senate took up a special order for the day which was a bill to prevent the cruelty to animals in transportation.

After a somewhat extended debate in which Davis (Ill.,) McPherson, Davis (W. Va.,) Thurman and others participated the bill went over til. tomorrow. The chair then appointed Senator Pryor to replace the late Senator Houston in the committee on privileges and elections of claims and post-officers and post roads. Adjourned.

Death of a Noted Frenchman.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The Duke de Grammont is dead. He was French Minister of Foreign Affairs at the outbreak of the Franco-German war, of which he was principal instigator.

Death of a Steamboat Pilot.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 18.—While the steamer Carrier was crossing the river here last night, James McDonough, the pilot, fell dead at the wheel. It is supposed he died of heart disease.

Two Persons Killed.

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Jan. 19.—Reports by a steamer from the lower Rappahannock confirm the killing of two citizens of Lancaster county, Va., by non-resident dredgers, since which the hostilities of the oyster men have ceased.

Railroad Lease Undecided.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—It cannot be ascertained definitely as to whether the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company will ratify the lease of the Georgia Central Railroad.

Destructive Fire.

OMAHA, Jan. 19.—James E. Boyd's large pork-packing establishment was burned last night, in consequence of which one hundred men are thrown out of employment. The loss is $26,000.

Nashville & Chattanooga Railroad.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 19.—The failure of the Nashville & Chattanooga Railroad directors to confirm the contract made with the Central Railroad directors, has caused a decline in the stock of the latter from 92 to 84. Colonel E. W. Cole, president of the Nashville & Chattanooga Road, contracted, on the part of his company, to pay the Central Railroad stockholders six per cent. per annum for the first seven years, and afterward seven per cent. in perpetuity. Colonel Cole's board of directors not only failed to confirm his contract, but sold out the controlling interest in their road to the Louisville & Nashville Road. This is the news received here, and it causes great excitement in railroad circles.

Great Excitement in Stock Exchange Markets.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The stock exchange markets opened to-day with great excitement on account of the announcement respecting the Louisville & Nashville and the Nashville & Chattanooga Railroad Companies. Unnaturally the whole market soon became feverish, and experience teaching that a boom of the kind that has recently been seen in the stocks of these two companies unsettles the general list. It appears that on Saturday evening the Louisville & Nashville Company between which, and the Nashville & Chattanooga Company there has been bitter rivalry, privately bought from some of the large individual stock holders of the Nashville & Chattanooga Company stock enough of it to give the Louisville & Nashville a majority of its present stock. The report says the price paid was 70 per cent, although there is no statement of the price.

On Saturday last the Louisville & Nashville stock closed at $1.05½, after selling on that day at 98 and the day before at 91. The opening price this morning was $1.18, after which there was an advance to $1.21, which has since been followed with a change in prices up and down by a decline to $1.13.

The Nashville & Chattanooga stock closed Saturday at 93¾, after selling on that day at 93¾ to 95¾. The opening price this morning was 95, then a break to 83, a recovery to 90, and a decline to 82. The general stock market has been feverish, but with few exceptions the fluctuations have been limited.

Marshall of the Eastern District of Texas; D. S. Johnston, Post master at Madison, Ga.; Wm. B. Green, Post master Huntsville, Ala.

The Exodus.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Nothing of the least practical value is expected from the result of the investigations of the exodus committee of the Senate. A Democratic Senator, in speaking of the subject to-day, said that he had voted for the resolution authorizing the investigation with the greatest reluctance; that all such investigations were quite contrary to Democratic doctrine and Democratic policy; that the Democrats in Congress had, ever since the war, opposed these investigations into matters over which the Federal government had no proper jurisdiction, and no power to remedy defects and abuses, if any such should be found to exist.

The Willed, Willing and Willful.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—There is every prospect of a long and bitter litigation over the will of the late Frank Leslie, who bequeathed to his wife the most of his estate, including the trademark of "Frank Leslie." His eldest son will contest the giving away of this name on the grounds that he had been baptised by it and that his father's name was Henry Carter. It is probable that a charge of undue influence on the part of Mrs. Leslie will be one of the objections to probating the will.

Tired Out.

[Can any one tell who is the author of these delicate and tender lines?]

He does well who does his best;
Is he weary? let him rest.
Brothers! I have done my best,
I am weary—let me rest.
After toiling oft in vain,
Baffled, yet to struggle fain;
After toiling long, to gain
Little good with mickle pain,
Let me rest. But lay me low,
Where the hedgeside roses blow;
Where the little daisies grow,
Where the winds a-Maying go;
Where the footpath rustics plod,
Where the breeze-bowed poplars nod;
Where the old woods worship God,
Where his pencil paints the sod;
Where the wedded throstle sings,
Where the young bird tries his wings;
Where the wailing plover sings,
Near the runlet's rushing springs!
Where, at times, the tempest's roar,
Shaking distant sea and shore.
Still will rave old Barnesdale o'er,
To be heard by me no more!
There, beneath the breezy west,
Tired and thankful, let me rest,
Like a child that sleepeth best
On it's mother's gentle breast.

Of far greater value than houses and lands is health; therefore preserve it against the effects of Coughs and Colds by promptly using Dr. Tutt's Cough Syrup. All druggists sell it for 25 cents.

A BENDING BACKBONE.

GOVERNOR SMITH REPORTED AS WILLING TO SUBMIT.

Guards Around the State House.... Last Week's Passes Not Good... Denial of Sunday's Report

BOSTON, Jan. 18.—A special dispatch from Augusta last night reports that Governor Smith says some members of his party are yet disposed to make trouble, but that he himself is only desirous of withdrawing as gracefully as possible under the circumstances. The dispatch further says that the leading Fusionists in Augusta admit that their cause is wrecked.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—An Augusta special says: All is quiet about the State House this morning. Major F. E. Nye has charge of the building. The force of police is, apparently, largely increased, and guards have been placed outside of the outer doors. None of the passes issued last week are recognized to-day, but the authorized persons are granted new ones by Major Nye and others of the staff.

It is expected to be a quiet session of the Republican Legislature.

The Fusionist Governor Smith is expected hourly to demand admission to the Executive chamber.

Governor Jas. L. Smith, accompanied by some fifty members of the Fusion legislature demanded an entrance to the capitol at 4 o'clock this afternoon but was refused. Governor Smith was informed that if he would publish his request in writing it would be presented to the commander. The Senate and House then proceeded to transact business on the side walk and finally adjourned to meet at Union Hall at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

STATE NEWS.

[Correspondence under this head is furnished, by regular contributors to the News.]

FRANKLIN.

FRANKLINTON, Jan. 17.—The weather is cool and bracing.

Trade is dull enough now to make the merchant melancholic, but for the fact that it was lively last quarter.

On the 31st. ultimo, by Rev. W. A. Barrett, Mr. H. H. Kearney and Miss Lucy L. Evans. The waiters were Mr. C. Evans and Miss B. Allen, Mr. J. Kearney and Miss R. Freddy, Mr. T Evans and Miss Jacky Capsell, Mr. John Wilson and Miss Georgianna Allen. Mr. J. L. Vaughan, of Franklinton, assisted in making the music at the fete that night. Cupid has but few victims left in this section as objects for his darts.

N. D. Williams serves up oysters cheaper than any one else in Franklinton and Ed. S. Fuller furnishes cash at the most reasonable rates. He set down his valise containing $25 and the borrower has not returned it.

Nothing of rare occurrence to mention, as the Ourang Outang seems to be quiet, having expended all its fury.

The Rev. Mr. Jenkins, pastor of the Baptist church is conducting a flourishing Sabbath school here, which he attends of Sabbath mornings before preaching. He is a gentleman that has done, and is doing a great deal of good.

According to invitation a certain musician attended a New Year's Ball. He carried his usual concomitants. A lantern, heavy shawl, umbrella, stick and fiddle. He had not done much with his cat-gut and rosin before the polite madam sent a message to him with instructions to request a cessation of his "melodious discord." He did so quite soon; but LOT soon enough, for two of the enraged seized him and led him to the door where one gave him a punch in the rear and the other snatched the violin and burst it in a thousand pieces over his musical head. He retreated in disorder and sent around next morning after what of the fiddle could be scraped up, also his lantern, shawl stick and umbrella. J. W. W.

GRANVILLE.

GRISSOM, Jan. 17.—The weather is now suitable to the time of year, just cool enough.

W. N. Harris & Son are doing a very good business here and the trade in hides is immense.

Near here on the 15th., Mr. Junius Allen and Miss Elizabeth Lowry were married, also Mr. Benjamin Moss and Miss Pattie Mitchell, near Wilton.

The Republicans are beginning to canvass the chances with the grand object in view of keeping quiet in the ranks but whether they will succeed or not time only will show. Lots of 'em want office.

Last Friday night some one took up quarters in Mr. Gideon Perry's barn and a little after day it was discovered to be on fire. Mr. Augustus Perry and Alexander Ball hastened to the scene and by a free use of water subdued the flames.

Mr. and Mrs. Romulus S. Jeffreys gave a fine oyster supper and party on the 3d. There was a grand ball at Mr. Elias Davis' on the 15th. Every one who attended went away well satisfied that Mr. Davis knows how to prepare for the young people to have a good time.

We learn that a party of capitalists speak of putting up a cotton factory at Lyon's Mills, on Tar river, where the water power is abundant. Mr. L. McGhee and others are thinking of putting up one in Franklinton. It would be the best thing that could happen for the town. W.

WAKE.

NEW LIGHT, Jan 17.—The weather is clear and cool, with roads very slushy from recent rains and freezes.

W. J. Ward, with his polite assistant, J. L. Phillips, is doing a good business here, for the country. Last year he sold $11,000 worth of goods, and a couple of mills south of here. Labon Woodlief, Esq., is also doing a fine business. Goods can be bought at either of these places cheaper than they can, generally, in the towns on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad.

Mr. J. Hilman Keith hails from this section, and is a man of many law-suits. There have been some seventeen writs issued against him since last August, at the instance of his wife, sons-in-law, daughter and others. They were made up of peace warrants and for assault and battery. This is the land of legal contentions. W. J. Ward, Esq., frequently has half a dozen cases before him in a day, and from thirty to forty witnesses. Fights are the order of the day.

There is no religious news to speak of in this section, at least the revival season seems to be over for the nonce.

There are several quite busy here just now to keep from throwing their land on the market for the next twelve months. Mortgages and other collaterals are in great demand.

The soil is in fine condition for agricultural pursuits, and it would be a real pleasant place to live in could the missionary have any influence over a certain portion of the community. There are as clever people here as can be found anywhere. J. W. W.

FORSYTHE.

WINSTON, Jan. 17.—Tobacco is coming in freely and selling well, but not as abundantly as might be expected for the season. Many are, doubtless, holding for better roads and higher prices.

News items are remarkably scarce this week. The Winston Male Academy opened with most flattering prospects, and the Female Academy in this town has a splendid opening. The Academy in Salem has a very favorable start, and the boys' school really good.

Our young friend, Capt. R. T. Stedman, (cashier in the First National Bank) was married last Tuesday morning to Miss Sallie J., youngest daughter of our worthy old friend, Sheriff G. Hill. The Sheriff's daughters are handsome, amiable and accomplished, and the young gents do not let them remain long at home. This is the second marriage there in the last three weeks. Quite a number of our young people from here accompanied Captain S., among them Lieutenant J. A. Brown, to see, as he said, the ceremony done up "brown."

Houses are beginning to rejoice. Pomeroy's troupe spent an entire week in our town. The new town hall will soon be completed, the outside work being now completed, presenting quite an attractive appearance. Our country bumpkin was in again the other day. He was desirous of receiving a letter, and after several reels got into the post-office, when he exclaimed on seeing the new lock arrangement, "Jerusalum! Jiminy cramin! sold again!" He rushed out and went into Smith's drug store and asked where the postoffice had gone. He was again directed back, and then called for a letter without giving his name, and when asked what name, replied "it was on the letter." Not receiving the desired letter, he concluded to write, and spent half an hour trying to "jew" the postmaster on a three cent stamp, wanting it for two and a half cents. He finally compt by buying a postal card, a stamp and an envelope for five cents. He there wrote his message and addressed it on the card, inclosed it in the envelope, sealed and stamped, and mailed without addressing the envelope, and as he walked out, exclaimed, "Fool who? dog-on-my-buttons if these ere town fellers don't cheat a feller if they kin, but they can't make seed corn of-en me."

Strange to say not even the postmaster could ascertain this fellow's name.

How to Hitch a Horse.

The Country Gentleman says that incredible as it seems, not half the tavern-keepers, hostlers or teamsters know how to tie a horse, either putting some clumsy knot that is troublesome to undo or making a hitch that is insecure. The proper way, after passing the tether around the thing to be attached to, is to make a half-hitch, passing the end of the strap through the loop. If the horse, nibbing, pulls it, he merely ties the knot tighter. And to unhitch, it is only necessary to remove the end from the bow, and it is instantaneously loosened. Not one-fourth of the butchers or farmers know how to tie the legs of a calf or sheep for transportation. The majority of people, when they want to make the animal very secure, wind the cord tightly around the legs, causing pain from congestion. The proper way is to make a half knot only on each hind and fore leg alternately, fastening with a bow at last, which is easily untied. I find, usually, a pocket handkerchief the handiest thing, it being about the right size. Tied in this way they are absolutely secure and without pain.

The Third Term and One Term.

Boston Journal (Rep).

All of the objections which are urged against a third successive term can with equal force be brought against a second successive term. Those objections are that the President will during his first term use his position to insure a second election. He would naturally be less independent, and would be tempted to use the patronage at his command to promote his re-election. We are inclined to favor the view that it would be vastly better to provide in the Constitution for a single term of six years, with the qualification that the serving of one term should not disqualify a citizen for re-election after another has occupied the office for a term. The danger does not lie in the number of terms to which a citizen may be elected, but in a succession of terms.

Murder in the Second Degree.

LOUISA COURT HOUSE, Va., Jan. 17.—The trial of Wm. Beaver, for the murder of his wife, in this county, October 1879, which commenced here Tuesday morning, was concluded to-day with a verdict of murder in the second degree. The term of confinement in State prison was fixed at eighteen years. Beaver was indicted for murder in the first degree, and tried shortly after the homicide occurred, the jury failing to agree. This was the third murder committed in Louisa county during the year 1879.

The Mouse in the Beer Vat.

"Joseph," said the magistrate, "you remember the story of the mouse that fell into the beer vat? It is old, but the lesson is always new." Joseph listened while the magistrate recited:

"A mouse fell into a beer vat one day. A cat was looking over the vat, and the struggling mouse said: "If you will take me out of here I will allow you to eat me.' 'Good,' said the cat, as he put his paw in and pulled out the little mouse. Feeling itself safe on the floor, the mouse shook itself and ran away. 'Come back,' cried the cat, 'you promised to let me eat you if I pulled you out.' 'I did,' said the mouse; 'but then I was in liquor.' Five days, Joseph, and then we will see about the pledge."

Joseph accepted the decision of the magistrate and as he marched into prison, said to the officer. "That's a — good story."

The Oyster War in Virginia.

RICHMOND, Jan. 16.—Since sending in his message to the Legislature, Governor Holliday has supplied the Lancaster militia with arms and ordered the officer in command to arrest the oyster pirates at all hazards. It appears that there is a fleet of over forty vessels, organized under an admiral and fully equipped for war, in the waters of the Rappahannock engaged in the illicit taking of oysters. Two citizens of Lancaster county have been already shot by the pirates, and flagrant war between the contending parties is imminent. The depredating fleet is said to be from Delaware and Maryland.

The Senate to-day passed the House bill appropriating $1,500 for the suppression of outrages by non-resident crews of oyster vessels in Virginia waters.

Talking of Dividing the Brooklyn Presbytery.

It is expected that the dispute in the Brooklyn Presbytery over Dr. Talmage will lead to a split in that body, and that the churches represented by the twenty-two complainants who are to appeal to the Synod from the action of the Presbytery in refusing to take official notice of Dr. Talmage's charges of moral rottenness will be collected into one body, leaving the present organization to Dr. Talmage and his friends. Each Presbytery must have a geographical boundary, and it is proposed that the churches south of Fulton and Joralemon streets shall remain with Dr. Talmage in one Presbytery, while the churches north of Fulton street join in an organization with Dr. Van Dyke and the anti-Talmage party.

GEORGIA MOONSHINERS.

THEIR HAUNTS, PRACTICES AND MODES OF DEFENSE.

Preparations Being Made by Commissioner Raum to Raid the Illicit Distillers.

Washington Star, 17th.

Commissioner Raum has inaugurated a war of some magnitude on the Georgia moonshiners in the northern—the mountain—counties and those just below. Several revenue officers have been shot and large number of seizures made. The war is not making very great progress notwithstanding these facts, and the revenue forces have been somewhat withdrawn. Governor Colquitt has become so impressed with the fear of trouble that he has written to the President asking that the raid be abandoned. The movement has not, however, been abandoned, but, at present is, for various reasons, not conducted on the scale contemplated. One reason for this is that under the present administration of the United States attorney's office for Georgia there have not been such vigorous prosecutions as tends to give them a wholesome fear of the law. The class of men who are being hunted, and are promised more of it, are brave, uneducated, and almost barbaric. They carry on illict distilling because they believe they have a right to. They are crafty and will brook no interference if they can prevent it; and will fight as a means of prevention.

THE HOMES OF THE MOONSHINERS.

They are as poor as church mice. They live in the mountain valleys and at the foot of the mountains. These valleys are fertile and the small farms productive. Corn especially is produced in abundance. There are no railroads near them, and their roads are rough; often only a half beaten track showing that a road is intended. They have no means of hauling their produce to market, therefore they make the most of it however they can. The most abundant harvest, corn, they have found to be most profitably disposed of when converted into liquor. They cannot afford to turn out the juice and pay the tax; so they turn it out without paying the tax, and only the march of civilization can effectually stop them. They are all firm believers in Honorable Alexander H. Stevens. That gentleman says:—"If a man can take his corn to the mill and have it ground into bread without a tax he is clearly entitled to the privilege of turning it into a little whisky without taxation." That is the moonshiners' sentiment.

THEIR VIEWS UPON THE WHISKY TAX.

They hold that they have a national right to distill without taxation and propose to do so, and in fact carry out their views. Many of them were loyal during the war. Before the war they did not have any whisky tax; and why they should submit to such tax since the war is beyond their reasoning. They are for all practical purposes banded together. Those who do not distill connive at and encourage those who do. The denizens of the mountains are the most dangerous class of law-breakers; those near their base have not the facilities for escape and resistance. In making warfare upon the former the work has to be quick, decisive, and the retreat rapid. The blow has to be struck and the raiding party has to retreat with speed. If they do not get out without delay they are picked off as they retreat. In the attack there must be a surprise where any number of moonshiners are gathered together.

AN EXCITING WARFARE.

It is a rushing warfare. The officers find the greatest difficulty in taking out prisoners captured, as an attempted rescue follows nearly every capture. In the mountains the favorite location for crooked whisky distillation is near a sheet of water, only accessible by it. The still is placed under cliffs, that cannot be descended from above or approached from the sides; it is only approachable over the water. The strength of such a position is evident. Other less favorite locations are nooks in the rocks and under embankments and in deep brush. Further down, the unfrequented wood near a stream is the favorite spot. The stills vary in capacity from a gallon a day upward.

THE MILLERS AND THE MOONSHINERS.

The principal ally of the crooked distillers, is the miller. The corn has to be ground before distillation; the miller knows where his money comes from for grinding, and guides himself accordingly. He will always give warning of a raid when it comes to his knowledge, and will do his best to throw officers off the scent. The revenue officer is surrounded with danger. He does not know the country, and not often can get a guide. He cannot tell when he is to be attacked, or by whom. A revenue raid in the Georgia mountains will not pale before the scenes in Rob Roy. The only definite information that is to be obtained is from the women among the moonshiners. They are, as a rule, always opposed to illicit distilling, because of its dangers and effect upon the morals of the male population. They will write to the revenue officer, giving definite information of the location of stills run by their fathers, brothers or lovers. The officers always rely upon this information; they do not ever suspect it of being decoys, many of which they receive. They go to the place where the woman has informed them there is a still, and invariably find it. There is one strange feature about the revenue raiding. Whenever a section is raided the distilling breaks out afresh; the distillers think they are safe for a time.

STIRRING ADVENTURES RAIDING THE MOONSHINERS.

A revenue officer who has raided on the mountains and in the lowlands said the other evening that the poverty of the people he was after always "sorter made him sick." "On one occasion," he said, "I was out with a party after stills. We found out where there was one and secured a guide. There were six of us and the guide had no horse. A double mount on one animal was made and a rush followed. We went over hills, through water, through woods and brush for six miles as fast as our horses could travel, and finally came to a log cabin near a little stream. We forced the door. Inside there was an old woman as naked as the day she was born. She was surprised—not at our catching her in that condition, but at our presence; there was only a rude couch in one corner of the room and a frying pan and drinking cup. The woman evidently had no clothes. One of party had turned around a sharp hill and saw the still. He notified us; we rushed in and captured a man at work before he could grab a long gun by his side. He had on but very little more clothing than his wife."

"How about your guides?" inquired the reporter.

A.—"They nearly all come to grief when we are lucky enough to get them. Our guide in this instance was not seen either by the old man or the old woman. He had a house and a tract of land and was well off for that region. A short time afterwards we heard that his house, barn and everything had been destroyed by fire. His wife and three children escaped with only their night clothes left. No one knew who the incendiaries were positively, but as his was the fate of all guides and informers it was easy to guess. On one occasion an innocent blind shoemaker came near being burnt out. We were on a raid and had just dashed a mile off the track—it could not be called a road—and destroyed a little still. We returned and went on at a hard gallop. There was a little house a few yards back in the woods. I turned off and entered. A blind shoemaker was at work. I asked him if he could sell me a glass of whisky. He did not have any he said, but he knew where I could get a drink of the pure article, and gave me minute directions. I overtook my party, and after a difficult march we came upon the still. After a skirmish with five men at work in it, we made a seizure. We did not take a prisoner. The men got out the back way and apparently went nowhere. About two weeks after I passed through the same section and found quite a tumult. The people had been unable to fix the person who 'gave the thing away,' but had such strong suspicions of the shoemaker that it was intended to burn him out. I called upon the man who appeared to be the leader and told him how the shoemaker had innocently given me the information. He was forgiven.

THE HAGS OF THE STILL.

"The women, as a rule, are against the practice?" inquired the Star.

A.:—"Yes; but some of them, in nearly every case old women, are strong supporters of moonshining. They are very vicious and some of those in the mountains will handle a gun with neatness and dispatch. I have been resisted by grayheaded women who could beat any of our party cursing. When we would make a seizure where one of these old hags was about, they would make the blood of some of the new men run cold with their curses upon us, upon our families, and upon our hereafter. The moonshiner never thinks of the law, but always of the men executing it."

DANGEROUS WORK.

Star.:—'A good many revenue officers are killed or wounded in these raids, are they not?'

A.:—"Yes, but the number is very small compared with the number of raids made and the stills destroyed. Every little skirmish with the moonshiners attracts attention throughout the country. But the numberless raids made where there is no fighting are not chronicled. This is due to the fact that the latter do not make lively reading for you fellows. I tell you a fellow on his first raid feels very peculiar. It won't do for us to get into a country all together. Everybody would know that a raid was on hand. So we string out about six miles apart, and put our horses to their mettle. A fellow thus going it through the country is not in a comfortable frame of mind on his first raid. When we assemble for a rush, the feeling of 'goneness' grows upon the new man. They soon get used to it, however, and rather like the excitement. Some of the deputy marshals in Georgia employed in these raids would discount the Kit Carsons of dime novels for shrewdness, cunning and nerve. The moonshiners know them, and respect them, too."

Star.:—"Do you think that by these raids much good is done?"

A.:—"Not very much. Of course it has a good effect, to a certain extent. I do not think that the mountains will ever be cleared of them by raiding. Once I was with a party of ten that made a most successful raid of two weeks near the foot of the mountains. I came back alone a week after to get up some evidence against prisoners we had captured. A gentleman at whose house I stopped took me to the top of a hill to show me the result of our raid. Looking around the woods and hillsides we counted sixty small columns of smoke ascending. The smoke came from crooked stills.

Star.:—"Is it hard to get testimony against prisoners.

A.:—"Almost impossible. You have got to capture your man in the act, or you will have no evidence. It would be as much as a man's life is worth to testify against moonshiners. It is surprising to a man who does not know these people how fast the news of a raid will travel. They are banded together, and it seems that the news of the presence of revenue officers travels as fast as if it were sent by telegraph."

The Telephone Dodge.

Cincinnati Inquirer.

The coal famine has developed a new use for the telephone. To illustrate by every-day occurrences in Cincinnati:

Irate person goes into a coal office and demands in the name of the bird with the broad and sweeping wings, why his coal, that he bought and paid seven prices for a week ago, had not been delivered.

"Good gracious!" exclaims the clerk, haven't you got your coal yet? Too bad, too bad! I'll call the main office and see about that."

Clerk goes to telephone, and, after the preliminary "Hello," "Well," "Yes," "I hear," etc., he carries on his part of an alleged conversation with the main office, in presence of Mr. Jones, as follows:

"Why in thunder hasn't Mr. Jones' coal been sent around?"

"_____."

"Yes, I know that; but we took his money and promised to send it last Tuesday. He hasn't seen a pound of it yet."

"_____."

"Oh, that's it when you got the order to the office they didn't have any and there was none of that kind to be had at any of the other yards?"

"_____."

"Yes. Well, Mr. Jones has been entirely out of coal all this time, and thinks we ought to have returned his money when we found we could not furnish according to agreement."

"_____."

"What's that? In less than an hour did you say? You'll send it around in less than an hour? I'll see if Mr. Jones can wait that long."

(Mr. Jones is consulted, and thinks that he can wait an hour longer.)

"Mr. Jones says that if his coal is delivered in an hour it will do."

"_____."

"What! You can get it around in half an hour if necessary?"

"_____."

"Sure of it, are you?"

"_____."

"Thanks. See that you make no mistake this time. Good day."

Mr. Jones goes home in the evening and finds no coal. Goes back to the office next morning. The telephone dodge is again sprung on him. The performance is repeated daily, with slight variations, for a week. At the end of this time the river rises and coal drops a thousand per cent.

TROUBLE IN THE CAMP,

PENNSYLVANIA POLITICIANS DISPLEASED WITH CAMERON.

Blaine Popular with the Pennsylvania Republicans—The Early Call of the National Convention.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Pennsylvania politicians, of whom there have been quite a number here in the last few days, report that the feeling of dissatisfaction among the Republicans concerning the early call of their State convention is on the increase. Several of the local leaders in Philadelphia and elsewhere have publicly given notice that they will not submit to the Cameron dictation in the selection of delegates to the annual convention. Mr. Blaine is very popular among the Pennsylvania Republicans, and the discontent which is exhibited seems principally to come from his friends. They claim that they will be able to send a majority of Blaine men to the convention, notwithstanding the packing of the Cameron dynasty, and that an anti-third term resolution will be passed similar to the one passed four years ago by the State Republican Convention. Don Cameron hears all this talk, but does not condescend to make any public reply to it. He intimates, however, to his friends that the Camerons cannot meet defeat.

Couriers—The Remarkable Rides of Buffalo Bill.

Cleveland Herald, Oct. 25.

The English papers have recently been loud in praise of Mr. Archibald Forbes, who made a really tough ride across the Zulu country. He rode 110 miles from 9 P. M. one day to 5 P. M. the next. His ride was in six stages, and at each stage he obtained refreshment and a fresh horse. He had guides and an escort part of the way, and followed a well-marked trail across the country made by an advancing army of 6,000 men. The ride was really wonderful; but what would they say to such rides as those made across the trackless plains and forests of our great Western country with the dread probability that at any moment the flying hoof beats of the steed might be stopped by the whizzing of an Indian ball or arrow, and the bones of both horse and rider left to bleach and whiten on the desolate plain? Rankin, the scout who rode out of Payne's lines and carried to Rawlins the intelligence of the plight of what was left of Thornburg's command, made a remarkable ride and well worthy the attention of the muse of history. "Buffalo Bill," in his autobiography recently published, presents some figures which are worthy the attention of those who are disposed to glorify dangerous and difficult rides.

In August, 1868, "Buffalo Bill" rode in twelve hours from Fort Larned to Fort Zarah and back, sixty-five miles; in the succeeding twelve hours he carried dispatches to General Sheridan from Fort Larned to Fort Hayes, sixty-five miles. From Fort Hayes he rode in the next twenty-four hours to Fort Dodge, ninety-five miles; on the next night he went to Fort Larned, thirty-five miles on foot and thirty miles on a mule; and again the next night from Fort Larned to Fort Hayes, sixty-five miles. He made on horses, mules and afoot, 355 miles, and he was in the saddle or afoot fifty-eight hours. These successive rides were made through a rough, irregular country, swarming with hostile Indians, where there were no roads and hardly a perceptible trail, which had to be followed in the obscurity of the night. Early in life Buffalo Bill made a continuous ride of 322 miles, making that distance in the incredibly short time of twenty-two hours, a wonderful feat of human endurance.

Lecture.

Rev. Dr. Mendelsohn, the distinguished Rabbi of Wilmington, delivered a lecture at the Synagogue, last night, on "Judaism: its Past, Present and Future." The theme was a happy one for the speaker, and well did he acquit himself. Taking the prophecy, or vision, of Ezekiel for his basis, the learned gentleman traced his people from the days of the prophet down to the present, portraying, in fine language, their persecutions, trials and good works; predicting for the Hebrews a future as bright as the most hopeful could wish. Injustice would be done Dr. M. were a synopsis, even, of the address given. He was listened to with marked attention, and regret was expressed when he closed. We came near forgetting to state that Dr. Mendelsohn was introduced by the President of the Hebrew Association, M. Grausman, Esq., in a few well-chosen remarks.

Lynched.

RICHMOND, Jan. 19.—Arthur Jordan married a negro who had induced a respectable white girl, the daughter of a Northern carder, to elope with him, but had been caught and lodged in the county jail at Warrenton, was this morning taken from jail by a masked party and hanged on a tree in a neighboring cemetery.

Entirely Recovered.

NEW YORK CITY, June 16, 1879.—H. H. WARREN & CO.—GENTLEMEN:—I hereby certify that my wife has been using Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver cure for Bright's Diseases, and she is now entirely recovered. When all physician's remedies failed, she was induced to try your remedy, and received beneficial results from the first bottle. After taking four bottles she was entirely cured. Yours truly,

DAILY NEWS

TUESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1880.

GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r.

WHY are the officials at Washington so reticent about the Maine gubernatorial row? Are they afraid of forcing a fusion of Democrats and Greenbackers in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois this coming fall?

PERHAPS the most valuable paper for early Northern news that circulates in this section is the Baltimore Daily Sun. With special as well as general dispatches, it never fails of giving satisfaction to its readers. The Weekly Sun is a large eight-page paper, replete with matter for the masses, and managed with far greater care than most of the so-called literary papers. A glance at the prospectus in our advertising columns will tell the story far better than we can.

THE cotton factors hereabout claim that they have not made a cent on cotton operations this season. The fluctuations were too fast for them. Per contra, the farmers were never in better condition; they are not borrowing to any extent. As fast as they get their money old liens are paid off, and lenders can hardly get 8 per cent. as against 12 and 15 in former years. This augers well for the future of the State, and with increasing prosperity together with increased educational facilities North Carolina will soon take its rightful position in the galaxy of States.

THE breaking of Edison's electric lamps has occurred at an unfortunate time for him. Though he may regard it as a "purely mechanical fault" that "does not affect his invention," the public look upon it as a sign of failure, and will not readily credit future assurances of "complete success." The Edison Electric Light Company announce that they are not prepared to sell privileges yet, and this, added to the failure of the inventor to give his promised public exhibition, and the breakage of the lamps, has put a serious damper upon the peoples' confidence in the "success." Then, too, other experimenters in and inventors of electric light are watching Mr. Edison closely, ready to pounce upon him at any moment with the allegation that he is infringing upon their devices and patents. For some years past so many different persons have been working at the electric light that it is said to be next to impossible for any one to achieve success without using some system or device of other inventors. It is predicted that a fruitful crop of litigation will follow the discovery, by Mr. Edison or anybody else, of a complete electric light.

JUDGE TOURGEE, a Southern gentleman, is said to be the author of "A Fool's Errand," which book, by the way, has been much read by Cabinet officers and the like. President Hayes has bought ten copies of it. Judge Tourgee is the author of several other books, all more or less readable.—New York Tribune.

Whether or no Judge Tourgee can be properly called a Southern gentleman our readers must decide. If a man that came to the South after the war—a carpet-bagger—and fought the old residents of the State tooth and nail, and then because he could not enforce his ideas packed his carpet-bag once more and left for Colorado, can be called a Southern gentleman the Tribune may be right as to a portion of its statement, but it is certainly an extraordinary claim. Some weeks since this same journal published a three-column review of the work, and the author knew at the time that the "Southern gentleman" referred to was Judge Tourgee. The notice quoted above may be considered a sample "puff" to give the work notoriety for campaign purposes this fall, and with President Hayes' indorsement to the extent of ten copies, the keynote of the canvass, "the bloody shirt," is already sounded.

FEW articles entering into every day use have felt the effect of prosperous times in an advance of price more quickly or to a larger degree than printing paper. This increase has been, according to locality, character of stock, and other circumstances, all along from two to four cents per pound, or an average advance of nearly if not quite thirty-three per cent. Whether there is any real and substantial business reason for this boom in prices is an open question, but that it has come, and in a most sudden and sweeping way, newspaper publishers have the most conclusive evidence. The inevitable result is already seen in many parts of the country in a considerable advance in the subscription rates as well as in the price of single copies of both daily and weekly journals. The morning papers of St. Louis, for example, have all increased their price from twenty-five to thirty cents per week, and there are indications that the principal papers of other large cities of the country will shortly follow suit. This step will be necessary everywhere, indeed, if there is a much larger increase in the cost of white paper. Even at the low rates at which that article has been furnished for a year or two past, few but the very high priced papers were able to make anything on their circulation—their advertisements being their main, if not their sole source of profit,—and if the cost of paper becomes much greater, the question will soon be presented to all publishers whether they will increase the selling price of their publications or continue that branch of their business at a positive and in some cases a very considerable loss.

THE New York Home Journal, in its reforming orthografy, spelling tongue tung, which was an earlier spelling of the word. The Anglo-Saxon spelling was "tunge;" when or how it became corrupted into tongue is not clear. The Home Journal observes that "A neighboring organ of the body is spelled lung and not longue. Then, why should not the muscular organ of speech be again spelled tung, as it formerly was?" It will be "tuf work for an etymological stickler to give a good reason against a restoration of the old, correct, and fonetic spelling of the word. The Princeton Review for January has a very strong article on spelling reform from Professor March, of Lafavette College, Pennsylvania, which calls the attention of the etymological scholars to numerous words like that of tongue, which are spelled in violation of their etymology or history, and he asks their assistance to have the older and more fonetic orthografy restored. We name a few of his list: Island was formerly spelled iland; sovereign was spelled by Milton sovran, as it should be; foreign was forin, from the French, forain; rhyme was earlier and better spelt rime; delight was delite; glamour was glamer; scent was sent, French sentir, Latin sentire. The c should be ejected, as it throws the etymologists off the "scent" of the derivation. Whole was earlier spelled hole, like its kinsfolk hole, heal, holy; aghast was earlier agast; accurse was formerly spelled acurse. Affair is the French a faire; annoy was earlier anoi; address was adress. Affirm, affix, afront, agrieve, alegeance, apease, apraise, arears asuage, atorney are further examples of words which have had an extra consonant fastened upon them in modern times. The old English and French spelling of debt was dette; the b is a modern insertion; doubt was formerly spelled doute; receipt had no p in it in former times, nor had feign any g in it. Professor March gives many other examples of words whose orthografy has been corrupted, and he thinks such progress backward should be reversed.

General Grant as a Temperance Man.

A Washington letter says: "General Grant has stopped the use of all liquor, wines, or beers, sure enough, and such a change in a man was never known before. He is not as fat as he was; his face is thinner, paler and less apoplectic; his eye is clear, and has what the English call a "smarter" look about him Now, if he only sticks to his resolution! He tells everybody that he feels very much better when he does not drink, and that the enjoyment does not compensate. It was strange that at the dinner party given to the General by Senator Don Cameron when the former was here (as related to me by a gentleman present) three eminent drinkers turned down their glasses and did not take a drink of wine during the dinner, and have taken nothing since. I refer to General Grant, Senator Matt Carpenter and Senator Cameron. You may well understand what a sensation this created around the table. I did not hear, however, that such a course impaired the appetite of the others present.

King's Mountain.

Wilmington Star.

The people of North Carolina, and particularly of the mountain country, have a genuine interest in the proposed centennial celebration of the hotly contested and decisive battle that was fought on King's Mountain. The scene of the battle is very near our State line, but a little within the boundaries of South Carolina. If the line had been run straight the battlefield would have been within the limits of North Carolina. The necessary steps to celebrate the splendid victory that was won on October 7th, 1780—one hundred years ago next October—have been taken, and it will be a fine success, no doubt. North Carolinians must do their part, for a majority of the men who acheived that splendid victory were from this State.

Cleverly Counterfeited.

Dr. Price's celebrated Cream Baking Powder is extensively imitated. The Genuine may be known from the imitations by the words "Dr. Price," "Steele & Price," and the "Hand and Cornucopia" on the label. These are the trade marks. Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is not sold in bulk.

Kearney's advice to all parties is to "pool their issues." We think a good deal as he does, that we should bury the dead issues of the past. As a healing compound for all issues, sores, wounds &c., there is nothing equal to Henry's Carbolic Salve. Beware of counterfeits.

Why Will You

Allow a cold to advance in your system and thus encourage more serious maladies, such as Pneumonia, Hemorrhages and Lung troubles when an immediate relief can be so readily attained. Boschee's German Syrup has gained the largest sale in the world for the cure of Cough, Colds and the severest Lung Diseases. It is Dr. Boschee's famous German prescription, and is prepared with the greatest care, and no fear need be entertained in administering it to the youngest child, as per directions. The sale of this medicine is unprecedented. Since first introduced there has been a constant increasing demand and without a single report of a failure to do its work in any case. Ask your Druggist as to the truth of these remarks. Large size 75 cents. Try it and be convinced.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

Rev. Sylvanus Cobb thus writes in the Boston Christian Freeman:—We would by no means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup we can speak from knowledge. In our own family it has proved a blessing indeed, by giving an infant troubled with colic pains, quiet sleep, and the parents unbroken rest at night. Most parents can appreciate these blessings. Here is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless; for the sleep which it affords the infant is perfectly natural, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button. And during the process of teething, its value is incalculable. We have frequently heard mothers say that they would not be without it from birth of the child till it had finished with the teething siege, on any consideration whatever. Sold by all druggist, 25 cents a bottle.

A Paper for all classes of the People and in every Department of life.

Independent and Conservative.

THE SUN is conservative in politics, independent in tone and non-sectarian. Its proprietors point to the principles that have governed it in the past as a guarantee of its course in the future. On all subjects of public interest it will continue to express its opinions, according to its best judgment, with a view only to the promotion of the best interest of the public. All the freshest news, at home and abroad, excluding only that which is prurient or sensational, is given from day to day in its columns. In addition to what is furnished by the Associated Press and by the local reporters of The Sun, no expense is spared to keep its special correspondence that from Europe as well as from the Pacific Coast, and from its Washington Bureau abreast of the times, and to supplement it, as occasion may require, at every other point to which the current of events give prominence.

The Financial and Commercial Reports of The Sun contain at all times full and trustworthy accounts of all movements and operations in the leading markets, as well as that of Baltimore, with special telegraph service from New York of the latest stock and other transactions; while its reports of the ruling prices of breadstuffs, provisions, and other leading articles of trade and commerce, will embrace the latest intelligence, both at home and abroad, of each day's doings, up to the hour of going to press.

As a Paper for the People, filled with the freshest and most varied news, The Sun has acquired a reputation which is not surpassed by any of its contemporaries, while its large circulation, not only locally, but in many of the States of the Union, makes it the most valuable medium for all classes of advertisers.

What She Wore.

She wore a belted ulster cloak,

A standing collar, and the tie

A jockey hat sat on her nose—
She carried a rattan,

The lady from a man.

George Augustus Sala on Pie.

"Candy" and "caramels" are institutions in this country. Candy tempers the bitterness of scandal and mollifies the exacerbation of political controversy. It even counteracts, to some extent, the deleterious influence of Pie—pronounced "Poy"—which is the transatlantic incubus, and clings, with its doughy legs, over the shoulders of Columbia like an Old Man of the Sea. Almost everything that I behold in this wonderful country bears traces of improvement and reform—everything except Pie. The national manners have become softened—the men folk chew less, expectorate less, curse less; the newspapers are not half so scurrilous as our own; the art idea is becoming rapidly developed; culture is made more and more manifest; and the one absorbing topic of conversation is no longer the Almighty dollar—but to the tyranny of the Pie there is no surcease. It is a Fetish. It is Bohwani. It is the Mexican carnage god Huitchlipotchli, continually demanding fresh victims. It is Moloch. Men may come and men may go, the Grant "boom" may be succeeded by the Sherman "boom;" but Pie goes on forever. The tramp and the scallawag, in trowsers of looped and windowed raggedness, hunger for Pie, and impetuously demand nickel cents wherewith to purchase it; and the President of the United States, amid the chastened splendor of the White House, can enjoy no more festive fare. They gave me Pie at the Brevoort, and I am now fresh from the consumption of Pie at the Mount Vernon, Baltimore. Two more aristocratic hotels are not to be found on this continent. I battled strongly against this dyspepsia-dealing pasty at first; but a mulatto waiter held me with his glittering eye, and I yielded as though I had been a two-years child. The worst of this dreadful Pie—apple or cranberry, pumpkin or "squash"—is that it is so very nice. It is made delusively flat or thin, so that you can cut it into conveniently-sized triangular wedges, which slip down easily. Pardon this digression; but it really forms as important a factor in American civilization as the pot-au-feu does in France. There is no dish at home by which we nationally stand or fall. The "roast beef of Old England" sounds very well to the strains of Mr. Dan Godfrey's band at a dinner at the Freemason's Tavern; but a surloin of beef is fourteen pence a pound, and there are hundreds of thousands of laboring English people who never taste roast beef from year's end to year's end—save when they happen to get into gaol or into the workhouse at Christmastide.—Baltimore (Dec. 7) Letter London Telegraph.

NEWBURG, N. Y., October 20.—H. W. WARNER & Co., Rochester, N. Y.—Gentlemen: "A lady of over seventy years of age, in failing health for over a year, has been using Warner's Safe Bitters on my recommendation. She feels very grateful for the benefit she has derived therefrom, and says that until she used it her stomach could bear no vegetable food for over three years. I believe it to be a certain specific for dyspepsia.

Cuticura

BLOOD AND SKIN HUMORS,

The Scourge of Mankind. Old Methods of Treatment and Remedies a Failure.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the Great Blood Purifier and Liver Stimulant, is the most searching, cleansing, and purifying agent of this country. It may be detected in the saliva, sweat, milk, blood, and urine in forty minutes after taking the first dose, showing that it has entered the circulation and been carried to every part of the system. It forever eradicates the virus of Syphilis, Scrofula, Cancer, and Canker, those terrible blood poisons that rot out the machinery of life, filling the body with foul corruptions. Taken internally in conjuction with the external application of CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, it speedily cures Scrofulous Ulcers and Old Sores, Salt Rheum, Psoriasis, Tetter, Ringworm, Scald Head, Dandruff, and all Itching and Scaly Diseases of the Skin and Scalp.

ECZEMA ON THE SCALP.

BREAST AND LIMBS CURED.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen—I cannot refrain from adding my debt of gratitude to you for having placed within my reach the wonderful CUTICURA REMEDIES, which have rendered unnecessary all further experiment of physicians, and in a remarkably short space of time have rid me of a loathsome disease. I dispensed with all physicians two years ago believing they did me no good. The CUTICURA has stopped this unsatisfactory expense—even if it were necessary and I had the courage any longer to follow their advice—and brought the long-looked-for cure and happiness.

I have been afflicted with Eczema or Salt Rheum on my scalp, breast, and limbs for five years, during which time I have been under the treatment of physicians, or at mineral springs, or taking some kind of medicine. I have been treated by Drs —— of ——, Dr. —— of ——, and visited sulphur springs and taken numbers of patent medicines, all without the faintest approach to a cure.

April 1st last, I began the use of CUTICURA, which was immediately successful in my case, entirely curing me. I have not had a clean scalp for 15 years until the use of CUTICURA entirely healed it and left it clean and healthy. The other parts of my body were affected in a more aggravated form, but are now completely heal d. I believe myse f completely cured. I shall continue the CUTICURA RESOLVENT as directed, for its wonderful action on the stomach and bowels and cooling influence on the blood. It will afford me pleasure, as I have done in many cases, to urge the afflicted to use these wonderful remedies.

Yours, etc.,
STEPHEN CROWELL.

NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 30, 1878.

A RUNNING SORE

CURED IN ONE WEEK.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER:—Some three or four weeks ago I ordered a box of CUTICURA for a bad case of Salt Rheum. The back of one of my wife's hands was a running sore. In one week from the day it arrived her hand was well and has remained so up to to-day. E. P. DAGGETT.

MILFORD, ME., June 10, 1878.

I.

MY PLUG TOBACCO FACTORY, in a BRICK building 50x80 feet, 3 stories high, the lower story being two large storerooms. The building and the machinery will be sold together, or separately to suit purchasers.

II.

GRAIN MILLS,

in a 3 story brick building, 28x40 feet. Two Wheat Mills and one Corn Mill, new and complete with a capacity for grinding 100 bushels of wheat and 100 bushels of corn a day, and can compete in quality of flour with any mills in the State. The mills have had a very large local patronage during the past year. They are driven by a 60 HORSE POWER STEAM ENGINE, improved, of the make of Talbott & Sons, Richmond.

Attached to the engine is also a 60 Saw COTTON GIN and power press, at a safe distance (about 100 feet) in a different lot. The engine has a brick smoke-stack 60 feet high, making the danger from fire the least possible and the rate of insurance very low.

THE ST. NICHOLAS HOTEL—Notice.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——Yesterday was a real spring day.

——Fifty bales were received yesterday.

——The rink was again well attended last night.

——Revenue receipts to-day amounted to $1,463,14.

——No business at the Mayor's office yesterday.

——New Berne is shaping itself for a directory.

——Three marriage licenses were issued yesterday.

——Hot is no name for the temperature of yesterday.

——Three interments Sunday—one white and two colored.

Colonel T. M. Holt is in the city, stopping at the Yarboro.

——The little house fly has come out—the weather is so warm.

——We regret to learn of the severe illness of Mrs. T. H. Selby.

——The Board of Agriculture meets in the Executive office to-day.

——Colonel W. H. Cheek, Master of the State Grange, is in the city.

——The moon steps to the relief of the city lamp-lighter for a few nights only.

——For the week ending last Saturday the revenue receipts amounted to $22,059.03.

——Professor Lincke is making a number of additions and improvements to his gymnasium.

——Old bonds surrendered for exchange at the Treasury yesterday amounted to $50,000.

——Lumber in sufficient quantities cannot be obtained here at present for contemplated improvements.

——Pedestrians make slow time on Wilmington street, especially if Saturdays be fixed as days to drive.

——The annual rental of the Yarboro House bar-room is $1,000, instead of $1,500, as stated in Sunday's NEWS.

——Don't forget the lecture at Tucker Hall to-night. It is for a good cause. Only twenty-five and fifty cents admission.

——The lecture of Dr. Mendelsohn to-night at Tucker Hall will be an occasion of unusual interest to those of a literary taste.

——The pork supply is getting better. Most of the country wagons coming to this city since the weather change contain this article.

——Business is business; but for one to attempt to jew a postmaster in the purchase of stamps, throws the word "business" out of all shape.

——The Masonic fraternity interested will remember that Raleigh Chapter No. 10, R. A. M., will meet to-night. A full attendance is requested.

——The South Illustrated, published by Chapin's Farm Agency, is being mailed for Northern information. It is handsomely illustrated, and replete with information for those interested.

——Mr. G. M. Harden, who is in the employ of Messrs. Blackwell & Co., Durham, killed, a few days since, thirty pigs, eighteen months old, which weighed 7,713 pounds—average weight 252½ pounds.

——Attention is directed to the attractive advertisement of Wayne Allcott, Esq., in this issue. He keeps a full and complete stock of machinery, engines and boilers on hand, and you may rely upon what he says as being true.

——Yesterday afternoon was appointed for a drill and dress parade of the Raleigh Light Infantry, but through a misunderstanding only half of the company appeared armed and equipped as the law directs, so the uniformed portion divested themselves of their gay "taggery" and went home tired of their heavy campaigning.

——Mr. B. W. Starke, Manager of the Western Union telegraph office, has received a Blake transmitter and Bell receiver for church purposes and public concerts, which he proposes to test as soon as possible, with the intention of introducing them. It is indeed a neat piece of mechanism. He will cheerfully show it to any one desiring to see it. Call at his office on Fayetteville street.

——There is no doubt but that Raleigh is the healthiest city in the world. What with Dr. Lightfoot, the liver-pad man, the five-minute-cure physicians and the corn-salve man, now gone; Dr. Nowitzky, the galvanic battery and lung-tester man and the tape-worm victor, now here, and the medical and medicated hosts that are yet to come, it would be strange indeed to find a sick person hereabout.

——The field of journalism is still unoccupied in this city. Three dailies and fourteen weeklies are unable to give the people all the news. Another evening daily will appear in a short while under the name of Dispatch. It is not definitely settled whether this paper is to dispatch all the news, dispatch all the other papers or dispatch itself. One thing is certain, there will be dispatch somewhere in the camp before long. The public can't stand too much racket.

Lecture To-Night.

The lecture to be given by Dr. Mendelsohn, at Tucker Hall to-night, will be for the benefit of the Oxford Orphan Asylum. It commences at 8 o'clock.

Died.

In this city, on Monday evening at 5 o'clock, Graham Johnson, son of J. E. and M. F. Lawrence, aged five months. The funeral will be held from the residence on Salisbury street this evening at 3:30 o'clock.

Sunday School Books.

A Sunday school will accomplish more good and be much better attended when well supplied with good books. Messrs. Alfred Williams & Co., have the largest stock of Sunday school books in the State and will send their new catalogue free to any address.

McPheeters, Esq., Walter Clarke, Esq., J. Ruffin Williams, Esq. R. T. Gray, Esq., and C. B. Root, Esq. The hearse was followed by the stewards of the church—twelve in number. The Right Way.

Colgate & Co. intend that our people shall know for themselves that their "New" Soap is the best and most economical laundry soap, and their representative wishes it understood that the samples he is distributing from house to house are given FREE, for trial, and are taken from the same stock that our grocers have on hand. *

Something Useful.

A light weight overcoat will always be found useful in cool weather. We have a good stock of them; also a lot of men and boys' heavy overcoats of cheap and fine grades, bought since the holidays at low rates, and will be sold accordingly.

NEW YORK, September 23d.

I have much pleasure in saying that in all requirements of tone and touch, your pianos are the most perfect instruments I have ever played upon.

Distance Lends Enchantment!

Maud had a fine figure, good face and pretty name. One should see her at a distance. When she began to talk, you realized that she never used SOZODONT. Her breath was unlike the breezes of Araby the blest.

Experience of Years.

The experience of years has not detracted from the acknowledged excellence of the qualities of Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts, but has completely established their hold upon the taste of all persons who love delicious flavors. They will satisfy the most fastidious.

What Physicians at Home and Abroad Think of the Seven Springs Iron and Alum Mass.

In the treatment of Dyspepsia, Chlorosis, Anæmia, Nervous and Muscular Debility, Nervous and Sick Headache, Dysmenorrhœa, Menorrhagia, Amenorrhœa, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder and such like organic or functional disturbances, I know of no remedy upon which I can rely with more certainty of satisfactory results than the "Seven Springs Mass."
W. F BARR, M. D.,
Abingdon, Va.

I have found no one single remedy to yield such satisfactory results as the "Seven Springs Mass." In the treatment of Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhœa, Anæmia, Chlorosis, and for Chronic Eczema, I find it invaluable, associated with appropriate topical treatment.
GEO. T. HARRISON, M. D.,
New York City.

From my experience with the "Iron and Alum Mass," I believe it will prove the best medicine we have in use, for chronic diseases.
G. M. D. PATTERSON, M. D.,
Englewood, Texas.

For Dyspepsia, Ulcerations of the Throat, Inflammation of the Neck of the Bladder, Leucorrhœa, etc., the "Seven Springs Mass" seems to act with almost specific effect.
E. O. GRIGSBY,
DeView, Ark.

We could extend this list into the thousands with such testimonials from physicians from every State in the Union, but these are sufficient to indicate its application. The reputation of the remedy is too widely known to waste words upon its character. In ordering from drug gists always mention Seven Springs Mass. Price $1 per package or six for $5, sent by mail, postpaid.

MACHINERY.

90 ENGINES in 90 DAYS,

Sold by the Celebrated, Reliable and Established House of TALBOTT & SONS.

This proves whether or not these

Great Southern Engines
AND BOILERS

give satisfaction.

We are now receiving orders from parties that have one and some have two of these celebrated Engines and Boilers; they will have no other at any price, and only ask that they may have another as good as those they have. Talbott & Sons are now furnishing the best Northern markets with their engines and Boilers, and give the very best satisfaction when tested with the best made Northern Engines.

Look at the cost of repairs of this Engine and Boiler after run by inexperienced men. I will name a few who have run them constantly under the severest test. One party has a 20 horse power Engine and Boiler run for six years, has paid fifteen dollars for repairs; another a 25 horse power Engine and Boiler—run five years and paid five dollars; another a 15 horse power Engine and Boiler—run four years and paid three and a half dollars, caused by his own carelessness, and unless by unusual carelessness these Engines and Boilers never need repairing within from five, ten and sometimes fifteen years.

Those in want of

RELIABLE MACHINERY

would do well to correspond with me. I will give as LOW PRICE and REASONABLE TERMS as any Reliable Manufacturer.
